Epic Roots Mâche Classic Rosette

TODD KOONS, founder of Epic Roots and former chef at Chez Panisse, was a pioneer of ready-to-eat specialty salads in the late 80's. His high quality TKO brand helped popularize spring mix, baby spinach and Asian mix among others. Fifteen years later Americans are overdue for a new salad green. This is why Todd introduced Epic Roots Mâche.

Today Mâche is grown by Epic Roots from heirloom seed in the mineral-rich soil and moist climate of California's Salinas Valley. Mâche is an immensely popular green in Europe where it is called lamb's lettuce, corn salad, field salad, feldsalat, salade de blé and doucette, little sweet one. Epic Roots is now bringing that old world tradition to the new world.

Mâche Appeal

Taste: Epic Roots Mâche has a mild, sweet, nutty flavor and a succulent texture.

Versatility: With its superb flavor and tender texture, Epic Roots Mâche lends itself to a much wider range of dishes than ordinary greens.

Appearance: Epic Roots Mâche is a beautiful, delicate rosette with a vibrant green color that looks great on the plate. One sample is worth a thousand words.

Shelf Life: Epic Roots Mâche keeps up to 2 weeks when stored under proper conditions - if you can resist it that long!

Nutrition: Epic Roots Mâche is a leafy dark green rich in vitamins and minerals such as iron and folic acid. It is high in fiber and lutein (a powerful antioxidant) and low in calories.

Availability: Year-round. Epic Roots Mâche is triple-washed, ready-to-use, and conveniently packed in one 1lb bag, six 4oz bags and twelve 4oz clamshells.

When adding mâche to your menu, you can be assured product will be available. Epic Roots Mâche is a standout in every way that counts!
